Dear Recruiter,

I would like to express my strong interest in the Full Stack Developer position which you have recently opened. From the description of the role, I am thrilled about the possibility of being part of a such dynamic development environment and contribute to your mission.

Throughout my Bachelor's degree on Faculty of Organizational Sciences, module of Information Systems and Technologies, and my two year working experience, I was working across various programming languages. I have worked on my skills in object-oriented languages such as C# and modern web technologies like HTML, CSS and JavaScript (Very interested in React and UI/UX). As Full Stack Developer, I am committed to producing software solutions, documenting code, efficiently debugging and translating feature/customer requests into optimized code. Additionally, I have hands-on experience with .NET Core enabling me to create Web Applications. On some previous projects I have explored DevOps tools and gained valuable insights into UX/UI design principles by myself.

My great satisfaction is also to help others, because growth of the team can help everyone. Also, I am always open to constructive feedback on my work and open professional relationship.

From the moment I found your open position, my energy, passion and excitement were raised on maximum, because this opportunity can be my life changer. Chances for growing and learning which you give to your employees are various and insightful so I can also see this as a big chance for my development.

Thank you for considering my applications. I look forward to the opportunity of discussing how my experience and enthusiasm can contribute to the success of your organization. Please find my resume attached for your reference.

Best regards,

Miloš Mihailović
